TO ARREST BUYERS.

He Who Drinks Milk-Shakes Will Do So at His Peril.

WISHART'S CHANGED BASE.

Tired of Prosecuting Sellers, Consumers Will be Arrested.

CARLISLE WILL FINE THEM $25.

The L. & O. Alderman Says the Supreme Court Decision Applies.

THE CAPTAIN CORRECTS MISTAKES.

Captain Wishart is weary of prosecuting men for Sunday selling with no permanent effect in inducing them to desist. For several consecutive Sundays his agents have collected evidence against Druggist Kaercher, "Milk-Shake" Martin, the Casino Museum vendor, and one or two others, and informations have been made on Monday. followed by trials later in the week; but, with unquenchable ardor, the violators have opened up on the succeeding Sunday, fracturing the day of rest. Besides, it is late in the season, and the lemonade, milk-shake and soda water will soon be out of date temporarily,

The Law and Order chief has a new plan which will be brought to bear next Sunday. Not only will the sellers be informed agat-st and duly arrested, but the buyers will share the same fate-that is if they can be found the following day. The unwitting consumer of the palate-cheering milk-shake will quench his thirst next Sunday with the cold and fishy eyes of the Law and Order myrmidens upon him to his peril. Informations will be laid the next day, and Alderman Carlisle will do a land office business imposing the same fine as in the cases against sellers. At least this is the pro-

HE WILL PINE THEM.

Alderman Carlisle was seen last night in regard to this pleasing prospect for the thirsty public. He was loath to admit that the story was true, and finally, when pressed, admitted that Captain Wishart had said that he "might" change his tactics as indicated.

"Will you fine those who are arrested on the charge of buying on Sunday?"

"It will be $25 and costs for each and everyone of them. Of course I shall fine anybody arrested on the charge of buying on Sunday. The Supreme Court held that the buyer was as culpable as the seller on the old principle that 'it takes two to make a bargain,' and the law as construed is so plain that I do not believe that anyone will appeal. Furthermore, I believe that this plan will wind up Sunday selling in Pitts. bure, for where there is one seller there are hundreds of buyers, all of them equally liable. The Brooks law explicitly says that those found in an illicit whisky or beer concern are equally liable to fine with the proprietor, and the Supreme Court has decided positively upon the constitutionality of the Brooks law."

"Then this move is not a bluff?" asked

"It is my duty to administer the law, and I shall fine anyone brought before me on a charge of Sunday buying," said the Alder-

A RECRUITING LEAGUE

"One would think." observed Mr. Carlisle, with cutting sarcasm, "that some newspaper men consort only with gamblers and other disreputable people, to judge from what they say of the Law and Order League. It is not on its last legs. On the contrary, where it had one friend two years ago it has 20 now. This talk about persuading people to sell and then prosecuting them is a lie. I will give you or anyone else $100 if you can produce a case in which the seller did not break the law of his own free will. Think of the expenses which have been put on the league by the ignoring of the plainest kind of cases by the grand jury! Captain Wishart is doing a noble work in restoring the morals of this community, and he is universally respected"—and much more in the same strain of eloquent enconium upon Captain Wishart, past, present and future. There were five cases entered before Al-derman Carlisie yesterday and no hearings. He refused to give the names of the pro-

HE DENIES THE CHARGE.

Captain Wishart Was Not Assaulted, Because He Was at Home.

An afternoon paper printed a story yester day stating that Captain Wishart had been assaulted on Sunday morning by an exsaloon keeper from Penn avenue. It was alleged that the Captain had been kicked and cut about in a most fearful manner.

A DISPATCH reporter who went to the home of the Captain on Mount Washington last night, was astonished to find the head of the Law and Order League in the best of health.

"That story is a lie from the whole cloth," he said. "I was not outside my gate on Sunday, which is evidence enough that I certainly could not be on Penn avenue." Captain Wishart was also asked whether there was any truth in the statement that Major Negley and W. A. Herron had left

"If that is true I do not know of it," said he, "and I will not believe it until I see it stated over their own signatures."

CAN INFORM ON SUNDAY.

Alderman Brinker's Novel Point Regarding

L. & O. Prosecutions. Captain Wishart made informations be fore Alderman Brinker yesterday against John Martin, of Smithfield street; Thomas Quinn, of Fifth avenue, and A. J. Kaercher of Federal street, Allegheny, for selling or last Sunday. All of them gave bail for hearings this morning between 9 and 10

Martin was also sued before Alderman Burns yesterday for selling on the same day and paid his finc. Alderman Brinker said yesterday that efforts to evade the Law and Order League by having an action brought and a fine paid before another alderman would prove futile, as an information could be made on Sunday as well as on any other day, and the process need not be served until the next day. He said if the informations he has against these defendants were looked into, they would show the date to previous to any made at other offices.

Allegheny Officers Given Permanent Positions in Johnstown.

This morning Officers Kroesen and Crane, of Allegheny, will leave for Johnstown to reside permanently. They have been offered permanent positions with the Johnstown and Stony Creek Railroad Company. The offer was made through Chief of Police Kirschler on account of the good service done by the Allegheny officers while in the NOT ENOUGH CLERKS.

The State Demands Tax Statistics of the City Without Providing Machinery-What the Officials Say. The County Commissioners yesterday sent to the city authorities a set of blanks issued by the State, according to an act of last May, which requires them to furnish to the State a complete tabular statement of all taxes collected in the county, including State, county, borough, township or ward tax, and poor tax, road tax, personal property and occupation and corporation tax, together with what is received from icenses of various kinds and the tax on the real estate of chartered corporations, including railroads and the tax on limited partnerships.

Controller Morrow thinks it will be almost impossible to furnish the required statement, as the act requires the tax receipts for the year ending June 1, while the city fiscal year ends February 1. As the law was made to secure an accurate estimate of the taxes received throughout the State, for the purpose of forming a basis for equitable revenue laws, it provides for payment of the necessary expenses; but Secretary Stew-art sends a circular with the blanks stating that, as the Legislature made no appropriation for the expenses, the compilation must be "a labor of love."

Mr. Morrow estimated that two clerks would be required for a month or six weeks to do the amount of work expected; but, as to do the amount of work expected; but, as there is no appropriation for payment of extra clerks, he does not see how he can furnish the figures. Section 3 provides that any official refusing to supply the required information that may be in his possession, when demanded, shall be guilty of a nisdemeanor, and subject to a fine of $200.

The blanks above referred to were presented to the Board of Assessors by a clerk from ed to the Board of Assessors by a clerk from the County Commissioners' office, and upon examination it was decided, as the records of examination it was decided, as the records of that office do not show collections, that the board named had nothing to do with the matter. The Controller being the chief financial officer of the city, and the fiscal records being kept in his ofice, Mr. Case, Chief Assessor, after examination, on behalf of the board, referred the blanks to Mr. Morrow. This action was officially reported by letter to the County Commissioners and by letter to the County Commissioners, and Board of Assessors expressed a willingness to aid in the preparation of the statistics wanted, so far as possible, with reasonable clerical help.

THE TYPHOID SCARK

The Southside Comparatively Free From the Fever-There is No Epidemic Yet. Although It May Come at Any Time.

It has been reported that the Southside had once more a typhoid fever epidemic. An investigation last night, however, proved that so far the disease is scarce on that side of the river. Dr. J. M. Duff, although naturally averse to having his name in print, was at last led to remark: "I do not wish to question the statement of any of my professional friends; but if there is an epidemic of typhoid on this side of the river, I have failed to discover it as yet. Neither has any other physician expressed himself to me to that

Dr. E. A. Mundorff said: "There is no epidemic of typhoid on the Southside, and there is no more fear that it will occur than there is in any other year. Whenever we have a rainless summer the Southside is liable to have an epidemic of fever and water supply is changed. Whenever the river is low, organic matter containing the germs of disease is always apt to contaminate our water supply, and disease may come at any time."

DETECTIVES' PROFITS

Seven Speak-Easy Finders Held for Trial for Conspiracy.

SOME ALDERMEN ARE IMPLICATED. How Illegal Liquor Cases Are Presecuted

JUSTICE'S $25-IN-THE-SLOT MACHINE.

by Licensed Agents.

There was some startling testimony sworn to in the prosecution of the Bauder detectives yesterday as to certain inventions whereby defendants might drop $25 in the slot of Justice's machine and get injustice out of it. At 4:30 P. M. the case of the Commonwealth against the Bander and Doyle Detective Agency came before Alderman J. B. Hyndman at the East Liberty Police Station, on Frankstown avenue. The defendants-against whom warrants had been issued severally and collectivelywere J. B. Bowder, James Doyle, L. J. Bender, George Kelly, F. D. Stoner, H. Brockett, John Doherty, Dominic Gallagher and William Nagel. The charge was one of conspiracy to obtain money illegally. Attorney John Marron appeared for the Commonwealth; Maj. Montooth for Gallagher; Attorney J. M. Rourke and L. P. Stone, respectively, for Doyle and Doherty The remainder of the defendants represente themselves.

John J. Arnodt of 155 Frankstown avenue, deposed that defendants, Gallagher and Doyle, came to his house about the middle of last July, and Doyle read a warrant against him for selling liquor without license. Doyle then asked him if he could get bail for $3,000, and he said he could, and, making an excuse about getting his shoes, slipped and got off to Ohio, whence heonly returned a few days since. The warrant was signed by 'Squire Maneese. The day of the occur-rence was Monday. Doyle told him the hearing was to be on Thursday. In his absence, Victor Miller, a friend, kindly took his case in hand and went to Maneese's office. Mrs. Arnodt gave Miller $39 to settle. He felt he could not get bail for $3,000, so he concluded to skip. They kept on sitting in his house for two hours, and after that Dovle went all over the premises.

Mrs. Arnodt corroborated her husband's vidence, adding that Gallagher told her she was prosecuted by the Commonwealth. She did not know who or what the Commonwealth was.

Victor Miller, the next witness testified that Mrs. Arnodt gave him $39 to go to 'Squire Maneese's office and settle the case, if possible. He saw defendant Bauder at the 'Squire's, and, knowing Bauder was mixed up with the case, offered to settle it with him. Bauder told him everything could be settled for $25 and $9 costs. then went to the back office and he paid Bauder $34. Just then the 'Squire came in and Bauder gave the 'Squire 19. Bauder never told him what the fine was for, and at first he wanted to make it $50, but reduced it to $25, as "the people were poor." He never saw any information against the Arnodts', but merely helped them out of kindness. He saw Gallagher at Maneese's office. There was no hearing of the case whatever.
P. Dunn saw Doyle and Gallagher go into Arnodt's house on the day mentioned.

CORROBORATIVE AND CUMULATIVE. Mrs. J. Davis, of Forbes street, was next sworn. She said she had been sued for selling liquor without license. Defendant Doyle brought her the warrant, which was signed by Alderman D. R. Callen, of 309 Beaver avenue, Allegheny. She went to the 'Squire's office a day or two after, with Doyle, and again shortly afterward. The second time she went she saw there the 'Squire, defendants Doyle and Bauder and a lady named Coyle. Before she had a hearing, Bauder called her aside and told her he could settle the case. They then went into the room at the back, and Bauder said she could get off for $25. then came in and told her to money under the settee," adding that he "often found money enough there to pay for his beer." She dropped a dollar under the settee, and they went into the front office. Bauder and Doyle then swore to the ber, but could not produce them just then. Bauder also swere that she was summoned on information received by him for selling liquor illegally. He told her he could not find it in his heart to send a lady to jail; so he would let her off for $25. She heard of no costs, except what the 'Squire told her "drop under the settee.

Asked with regard to what bail she had tendered for her appearance, it turned out that it was "straw," although nominally set down as $3,000.

NO SLOT IN THIS CASE. Mrs. Kate Coyle, of 518 Second avenue, identified Doyle and Bauder, and had been sued by him to appear at Alderman Cassidy's office on Third avenue, and went there with Doyle. Doyle took her from there to Lawyer G. E. Moore's, on Fifth avenue, and from there to Alderman Callen's. At Callen's she saw, besides the 'Squire, Bauder and others. The 'Squire told her there were five witnesses against her; that she was arraigned under the Act of '55, and that it was impossible 'for her to get out of that it was impossible for her to get out of it. He then told her to plead guilty, and she did so. They then informed her that the fine inflicted was $50 and $8.30 costs. She paid Callen $13.30 at the time, and sub-sequently, on her second visit to his office, paid him the remaining $35. She was not told to drop any money in the "slot." The Squire gave her a receipt in full, which

'Squire gave her a receipt in full, which she produced in court.

The next witness, Peter Butterhoff, deposed that he was sued by defendant Bender for selling liquor illegally. The warrant was signed by 'Squire Cassidy's office. He was never brought to Cassidy's office. He was taken to 'Squire Doughty's on Penn avenue to get bail, and while there he settled the case with the 'Squire and Bauder. The 'Squire told him to hand over $75, and he handed over that sum. Didn't know who got the money subsequently: but was who got the money subsequently; but was quite certain that he saw none of it. No witnesses were even alluded to at 'Squire Doughty's. Witness then produced a document written by 'Squire Doughty, and running as follows: A QUEER DOCUMENT.

LAURA BENDER (Sic).

Drawn up and indorsed in my presence, and in my office. Mrs. Barbara Butterhoff, wife of the pre-ceding witness, corroborated her husband's evidence; adding that 'Squire Doughty brought the document just quoted to their house, in person. He told them that the $75 was for defendant Bender, who was witness against them, and for "his company."

Lowry J. Bender, defendant, was then sworn, and deposed to having worked in Bauder's Agency as a detective. He got a commission from Bauder about May 15. The agency had a room at No. 13 Excelsior building. He saw there, besides Bauder, Doyle, Doherty, McCall, Brockett, Stoner and Nagel, all of whom worked in the same employ. They then adjourned to a salcon, where Doughty'slipped $35 into an envelope and handed if to witness without King seeing. Witness then went to the agency office and handed Bauder $25, keeping $10 for himself. Bauder gave Doherty some money out of the spoils. Witness never knew that 'Squire Doughty had netted so big a sum as $75. If he did he'd have "kicked" and got more for himself. This was the only case witness was ever employed in by Bauder; but he "knew of other cases" carried on by the agency. Among these was that of Mrs. Byrnes, of Penn avenue, who went straight to her lawyer, Mr. Johnson, and got out of the agency's clutches. Witness himself succeeded in lowing telegram:

SPOILING BAUDER'S PLANS a short time ago in the case of Maude Raymond, of 21 Julius street. This was a reput ed disorderly house, and Bauder and Stone started out to levy blackmail there. but Arnodt succeeded in cluding Doyle. He was never a member of the agency, and never had any money transactions with any of defendants. After some consideration 'Squire Hyndman decided that there was no evidence implicating Gallagher, and he was let go free accordingly.

Attorney Stone then applied for defendant Doherty's release, and Doherty was sworn. He admitted being one of Bauder's agents, for which he was paid $9 a week and his expenses. He always considered the agency a legal one, as a commission signed by Clerk of Courts McGunnigle hangs up in the office in the Excelsior building. Doyle promised to "learn witness the business," and they set him to work ferreting out speak-easies, to "learn witness the business," and they set him to work ferreting out speak-easies, giving him $5 to pay for drinks. He knew very little about the money affairs of the agency. He had seen Bauder pay Lawyer Moore on two occasions; and once Bauder sent him with a sealed letter to Robert Liddell, the brewer, who gave him $15. Witness brought this to Bauder.

The meeting of colored people last night in Lafayette Hall was attended by a considerable number of Caucausians. It began in a somewhat animated discussion as to the necessity of Vice Presidents, Mr. Isaac Morton contending that an array of celebrated names would contribute to the success of the next meeting, and to the Chairman, Isaac Washington, and Secretary M. K. Holland, were added assistants in the persons of the Vice Presidents here named: J. H. Baldwin, W. H. Brown, Wm. Webster, B. F. Stewart, J. K. Owens and John A. Martin. These were pilastered by the appointment of Wm. Ash, Sergeant at Arms. Rev. Clinton made a prayer, and then the necting was declared open for business, which was begun by the reading of the fol-

Mr. Morton moved that at 9:30 o'clock an appeal be made to all to come forward with contributions ranging from $1,000 down.

As it lacked 45 minutes to that time one man objected to cut-and-dry speeches and asked that all was wanted to contribute be asked that all who wanted to contribute be allowed to do so instanter. Brown, of Beaver Falls, didn't intend to make a speech, but he was didn't intend to make a speech, but he was just as much interested as any other man and Beaver county is interested also. The result of the trial had convinced Rev. Brown that it was not the better class of South Carolina people that persecuted the black people, but the white trash, who formed the patrol that in the days of slavery hunted slaves. Rev. J. H. Baldwin, Esq., hadn't, like Rev. Brown, read the result of the Flemon trial in the Sunday papers, but postponed reading of it until Mouday morning. Mr. Baldwin seemed to think that prayer had done more than boodle. Mr. Isaac Morton made a short speed and then the meeting sang "Hold the Fort"

as a purse-string relaxer. MILESHARE MARTIN, the Moody-and-Sankey end of the machin then proceeded to announce that it would cost just $1,100 to hold the fort. President Washington announced another meeting at the same place on Friday evening. Brockett went her bail. Robert Liddell had been surety for Bauder when he was getting his agency licensed. Witness said the methods of the agency had been to enter speak-easies, and, on Sunday, regular saloous, and to ask for drinks. If they got drink they reported the matter to Bander.

Here the witness' examination concluded and Mr. Stone again asked for his discharge. Mr. Rourke appealed also for the discharge of defendant Doyle, arguing that he had not been connected with any conspiracy. The Squire, however, could not be convinced on this point and held each of the defendants in $1,000 bail on every charge, making a total of $6,000 to each man.

A FAMOUS BLIND TEACHER.

Dr. Campboll is Ready to Talk With the Promoters of the Blind Institute—Some Wonderful Bicycle Tripe-

Dr. Francis L. Campbell, the famous Principal of the English Royal Normal College and Academy of Music for the Blind, arrived in the city yesterday and stopped at the Hotel Boyer. On Thursday he will meet the promoters of the Pittsburg institution for the blind, and give them the benefit of his ripe experience. The Doctor is a great believer in physical education for those who can't see, and he is a wonderful example himself of what the blind can do if properly handled.

He retired early last evening, not feeling well, but his son, Guy M. Campbell, talked for his father. When asked if the doctor would consent to act as principal for the Pittsburg school, he replied that was something later on, and was not the object of their present visit. stopped at the Hotel Boyer. On Thursday thing later on, and was not the object of their present visit.

When they return to England they will take a party of blind students on tandem bicycles to the Paris Exposition. Arrangements have been made for the Paris wheelmen to meet them 60 miles outside of the city and act as an escort.

"My father and I," he continued, "have been all over England and Norway on the bicycle. We have a machine that will carry eight people, something I have not seen in this country, and we often take out parties of blind students on trips over the fine English roads. Of course on each machine we place a sighted man to act as guide, but the blind must understand the business, and know when to put on the guide, but the blind must understand the business, and know when to put on the brakes, etc., from a given signal. Blind people can skate and swim alone, because they can tell from the sounds when they are near the inclosure, but on a country road the sounds are so shifting and changing that they couldn't navigate without a guide. Not long since we made the distance from London to Derby, about 140 miles, in two days. But the roads are so poor in America that we couldn't do much with the bicycles here. By the bicycle I don't mean the average two-wheeled American machine. Our machines have from four to eight wheels."

A DISTRESSING CASE.

Death of a Girl Who Worked When Hardly Able to Stand Up.

Deputy Coroner Donley and Coroner's Clerk Grant Miller made an investigation of the death of Helen Isel yesterday afterof the death of Helen Isel yesterday after-noon, the developments of which justified them in placing the 'girl's father under ar-rest, pending the result of the inquest. They learned that the young girl had been an imbecile and subject to epileptic fits. About three weeks ago she became ill, been an imbecile and subject to epileptic fits. About three weeks ago she became ill, but was still compelled to do all the work about the house, although scarcely able to hold up her head. Dr. Haworth was called in Saturday. The doctor saw she was in a very serious condition and ordered her immediate removal to hed, but it was too late. The girl complained of ill-treatment several times to Julius Glassman, who occupies the front part of the house. On Friday she told him that her father had kicked her twice in the side and once in the stomach. twice in the side and once in the stomach

OTHER INDUSTRPAL NEWS OF THE DAY The following telegram on the coke situs-

tion was received from Scottdale last even-morning. Master Workman Kerfoot went there on Saturday, hearing that the strikers were about to go to the Pleasant Unity district to intimidate the men working where the scale was reported signed. A large number had congregated when Kerfoot arrived at Morewood, and the Master Workman's first action was to get an interpreter and learn what they wanted. They stated they wanted Supertendent Ramsey to meet them and sign the scale and post it up and they would go to work. Ramsey was sent for, and in the presence of the large assemblage, signed the scale. After it had been explained to all, the men agreed to go to work, which they did this morning, and everything is running smoothly there. After this an application, signed by about 300 mea, was presented to Master Workman Kerfoot, asking to be organized as an assembly of the sub-division of No. 4, Knights of Labor. The money for the charter fee and initiation fee accompanied the application, and as they resumed work this morning they will be organized as an assembly to night.

Rainey's Moyer Works, where the trouble occurred on Friday, is being guarded by a force of about 30 armed deputies.

At a meeting of Brown and Cochran's men at the Clarissa mines near Vanderbilt, yesterday they decided that as they had been working under a misunderstanding they would work today, and they told Master Workman Kerfoot they would not work after to-day unless the scale was signed. Messrs, Watchorn and Costello arrived here again this evening. Mr. Watchorn will proceed to the Sewickiey branch where he will endeavor to pacify the Huns who have been causing the trouble.

From the latest advices received from the K. of L. headquarters here this evening it seems highly probable that Mr. Watchorn will be successful in his mission as the agreement is getting to be understood.

What follows comes from Connellsville: What follows exmes from Connellsville:
Quietness has been restored at Moyer, Deputies are still guarding the works, a repetition of the outbreak being feared. The scale has not been signed yet at these works. The proprietor, W. J. Rainey, though willing, refuses to do so until the Huns become pacified. Notices have been posted at the works of the Cambria fron Company, saying that the scale will be signed and the work resumed in a few days. The Avondale Works owed, by Reid Bros, will start to-morrow.

The Hungarian strikers' wives, mothers and daughters are now reported to be the only threatening element in the coke region, as per the following special telegram from Greensburg last evening:

Greensburg last evening:

No demonstration was attempted by the Hungarians at Hecla to-day. However, their movements this afternoon were regarded suspiciously. Twenty additional armed men were sent to the works at 5,0 clock this evening by Sheriff Byers. They are now stationed in front of the works doing guard duty, and it is thought no outbreak will occur, at least until work is resumed, and that may not be for several days, as the damage done has not yet been repaired. A fight occurred between the Hungarians at Mammoth this afternoon, and one of them received probably fatal injuries. They are lounging about their homes to-night, and there is no sign of a disturbance, the only dangerous element, seemingly being the women, who are making all kinds of threats and are quarreling among themselves.

AGAINST NON-UNION IRON. The Strike at the Solar Iron Works is Not Dead and Buried. A strike is threatened among the men at Phillips, Nemick & Co.'s Sligo mill, and should it occur it will have a tendency toward a general strike among other iron mills. The cause of the trouble is the old Solar Iron Works' strike, which is still being waged, despite the popular belief that the Amalgamated Association had given it up. The firm have been making considerable muck iron for different mills in this city, and the men have protested against working it. Their objections have never yet come to an open revolt until the present case came up. On Saturday night the men in the Sligo mill decided not to work any more of the iron which was being run in to them in large quantities. They requested the mill committee to inform the Superintendent that if they were asked to work any more non-union iron after to-day there would be a strike. The Superintendent refused to act in the absence of Manager Bailey, and asked the men to defer action until to-day, when the Manager would be home. They accordingly did so, and, if a negative answer is received, the men say that they will quit work this evening.

purpose of equipping an American tin plate plant at the new Exposition building is regarded with apprehension among tin plate manufacturers of England. They are alarmed at what they call the bold practical manner of the experiment. The English and Welsh manufacturers have had a monopoly, and it has been steadily advancing. In 1873 the number of boxes experted from Great Britain was 2,153,477 boxes; in 1879 the number was 3,534,169 boxes, and last year it had risen to 6,953,128 boxes. Of these amounts America took nearly the whole.
